

LaSalle Farmers Market

Summer 2015 Spec Sheet

Welcome to the 2015 LaSalle Farmers Market season! We hope you enjoy our new location, coordinating committee, marketing strategy and new 50/50 Giveaway!

Our location:

The Farmers Market is located on the northwest corner of Hegeler Park, near the north covered pavilion. This area provides better parking for vendors and shoppers as well as a safer intersection for loading and unloading of products. A detailed map is included in this packet.

Coordinating Committee:

A team of about 10 community members and volunteers has been assembled to provide a main and backup site representative during the hours of 2-6:00pm on each Tuesday market.

Marketing Strategy:

- We have created a Facebook page to link all of our vendors, notify shoppers of specials, and attract new vendors, www.facebook.com/lasallefarmersmarket.
 - Please “Like” us on Facebook!
- Crafters and other non-food vendors are always welcome!
- We plan on notifying the NewsTribune on a weekly basis to be included in their weekly event listing, as well as their website and 815 Life.
- (5) City of LaSalle 50/50 Raffle tickets will be given away to one lucky vendor or shopper each week with a grand prize of (50!) 50/50 Raffle tickets to be given away on September 29th, the last market of the 2015 season. The City of LaSalle 50/50 winner will be announced in December.
- Additional signage along St. Vincent’s Avenue (IL351) to attract attention to the new location.
- Business cards have been printed and distributed to each of our committee members to pass along the information and attract new shoppers or vendors. These cards will be distributed to local businesses in LaSalle and surrounding areas.
- Advertisements will be distributed to many of the local schools before summer break to remind families of the market.
- All market dates have been added to the City of LaSalle’s master city calendar on their webpage, lasalle-il.gov.
- We have an email address, lasallefarmersmarket@gmail.com.
 - You will be notified by email by 12pm of the day of the market in the event of a market cancellation.

Foods Prohibited from Sale or Distribution

The following products are prohibited from sale or distribution to the public. Please see the referenced pages for more details.

- Wild-type mushrooms harvested from the wild (see Page 4 of the Illinois Farmers Market Safety Guide).
- Home-canned foods except jam, jellies and preserves that are allowed under cottage food operations (see Page 9).
- Raw milk, cheese or any dairy products made with raw milk (see Page 11 for exemption regarding some aged cheese).

Retail or Wholesale

Aside from raw agricultural products or cottage food products, the facility and processes for all other goods intended for direct retail sale or distribution, as items intended for end-use only, must be inspected by the local health department. Additionally, aside from raw agricultural products, the facility and processes must be inspected by the Illinois Department of Public Health or by the local health department where produced for all goods intended for wholesale distribution, as items sold across state lines, by mail or Internet, or to an entity that will resell the product. Regardless of distribution type, all perishable foods, including baked goods (i.e., cream or custard-filled items) shall be transported and held at or below 41° F.

According to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC), eight foods account for 90% of all food-allergy reactions: cow's milk, eggs, peanuts, tree nuts, fish, shellfish, soybeans and wheat. The FDA estimates each year in the United States there are 30,000 ER visits, 2,000 hospitalizations and 150 deaths due to anaphylaxis due to food allergies. Proper labeling of allergens in products is the first step towards the prevention of anaphylaxis.

Cottage Foods

A “cottage food operation” means a person who produces or packages a non-potentially hazardous food (i.e., baked goods, jellies, jams, preserves, fruit butter, dry herbs, dry herb blends, or dry tea blends intended for end-use only) in the kitchen of that person’s primary domestic residence, for direct sale by the owner or an immediate family member to the consumer, and stored in the residence where the food is made.

- The cottage food operation shall register with the local health department where the operation resides.
- A cottage food placard must be prominently displayed at point of sale that states.
“This product was produced in a home kitchen not subject to public health inspection that may also process common food allergens.”
- The owner or family member must be present during sale.
- The owner must have a valid Food Service Sanitation Manager Certification (FSSMC).
- All samples must be pre-packaged in the home kitchen.
- Cottage food operation products can only be sold at farmers markets; such products cannot be sold to retail stores, restaurants, online, by mail, or to wholesalers, brokers or other food distributors who resell food.
- All cottage food products must be labeled as outlined on Page 15 of the Illinois Farmers Market Safety Guide.
- Products may only be sold at farmers markets in Illinois.
- May sell up to $25,000 in product each calendar year.
- Sellers must agree to allow the health department to inspect the operation in the event of a consumer complaint of foodborne illness outbreak.

Non-cottage food vendors must label their products according to Page 16 of the Illinois Farmers Market Safety Guide.

- Operators may combine specifically allowed products. For example, an apple-cranberry jelly or pie is allowed, as is a peach-apricot butter, but a strawberry-rhubarb jelly is prohibited.
- An asterisk (*) means the product is neither specifically allowed nor prohibited. A cottage food operation seeking to product and sell such a product must, at its own expense, submit the recipe to a commercial laboratory to be test and documented as non-potentially hazardous (less than 4.6pH).
