Carol Alcorn, Executive Director of Illinois Valley PADS for 20 years, shared insights on homeless shelter support. She highlighted the organization's growth and successes, including housing 94 families/individuals and hoping to raise $4 million for a new building in Ottawa. Alcorn also discussed how the organization's website is 10 years old and in need of an upgrade to better serve the community and separate the two resale stores from the two shelters.

Pat Walters, Alcorn's assistant, explained how the organization's retail store is crucial for the shelter's support. She also explained how the two shelters, Peru and Ottawa, work together and are able to transport residents between shelters if one is overflowing. Walters also mentioned the need for the organization to update its website and POS system to improve inventory management and training. Walters also shared some of the efforts that have been made throughout the shelter to the homeless people of the area, including transportation and job training programs. Walters hopes to also improve community involvement. Walters stated that she had two more estimates to come in for the website building and she projects them to come in at about $20-$25,000. Walters shared success stories from those that have came through the shelters, along with all the programs they offer to help and support those that visit or live in the shelter.

Alderman Crane asked Walters how she came up with $4,000 as the amount for the city's donation. She said that she was basing the donation amount off the size of the city.

Alderman Thompson stated that the city has never donated to PADS, he understands that it is a large donation, but this has allowed many to have a place to go rather than in area parks or streets. Alderman Crane does agree that it is a very large donation also and hopes other organizations don't think that they can ask for such a donation. Alderman Thompson said that those organizations could not prove the housing and the employment opportunities like PADS can. Thompson also said that Chief Smudzinski would agree that the Police Department appreciates a place like PADS too.

Moved by Alderman Thompson and seconded by Alderman Herndon to approve the recommendation regarding request for a monetary donation of $4,000 to Illinois Valley Pads Homeless Shelter.
